

Where's the Party?

Problem

- Lots of people want to get into tabletop gaming like DnD, but finding other experienced players can be hard

Solution

- Gaming group-finder
  - Make a profile with your (screen)name, games you like/want to play, roles you enjoy
  - You can also sign up as a party looking to expand
  - Attach your profile to a pin and drop it at your location for others to see
  - Also works with play spaces (public library, etc) /events (eg TRPG Nite at a comic book shop)
  - Pins are easily movable and customizable (can be set to auto-update with your location or remain stationary)

Focus

- Browse players by scrolling around on the map- filter by properties on the profile (games, level of experience, age range, etc)
- Also has a heavy focus on chat app to keep the campaign running
- Make it easy to share pictures, links, videos, locations, emoji, etc
- Dicebot + other features to make it possible to run an entire campaign within the app

Goal

- Bring people together to play games and socialize

Persona

- Anyone of any experience level that wants to find others to play tabletop games with
- Also businesses that want to advertise their events/locations
